COZY BRICK DWELLING

The house shown above was awarded second prize in the small brick house competition recently conducted by the California chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the California Commercial Brick Manufacturers' Association. Hundreds of designs were submitted and eighteen prizes were awarded for the best designs entered. The sketch shows a home of generous proportions, yet one that will go easily on any average size lot. The exterior has a pleasing aspect, due largely to the excellent proportions and the artistic textural effects in the wall worked out by the architect. The appearance of beauty and stability of the house may be attributed to the material used in its construction. A survey of the floor plan shows a refreshing originality of design with the added advantage of practicality in every detail. A point of unusual interest is the unique tiled entry leading into the main axis of the house. On one side of the hall is the kitchen, a model of convenience and compactness. On the other side are the bathroom and two bedrooms. A cozy fireplace, interesting French windows and a circular bay window lend distinction to the spacious living room which forms one wing of the house. Modern built-in features are found in abundance throughout this home. The walls of the house are built with brick and the roof is of slate.

TOUGH ON BARRISTERS

A man one day in a sightseeing mood entered a London police court. The magistrate happened to recognize him as a fellow clubman and generally invited him to take a seat on the bench. The visitor was delighted at the honor done him, and as he sat down beside the magistrate he looked wonderingly around the crowded court. "I see you have a remarkably tough lot of customers to deal with this morning," he said in surprise to the magistrate. "Hush!" replied the magistrate, shaking his head to impose silence. "Those are the lawyers!"

NOMINAL SIGNIFICANCE

The hotel guest had taken a kindly interest in the bright-faced bellboy, who answered his summons so promptly. "What is your name, my boy?" he inquired. "They call me Billiard Cue," said the boy, "because I works so much better with a good tip."

WIFE SAVERS BY MRS. MARY MORTON

Buttonholes are always hard to make in very sheer material. Try this method, which has proved satisfactory: Mark the place and size of buttonholes in the material with a piece of chalk. Have this line hemstitched over and then cut the hemstitching as for picot and work the buttonholes over the picot. This is a neat and easy way to do them and they will not fray out.

iced Coffee Shake.—For an individual rule, place in a tall iced glass half a cup of very strong strained coffee, and add sugar to taste, a pinch of ground cinnamon, and a few drops of vanilla extract. Chill on the ice and fill the glass three-quarters full with chilled rich milk. Stir in half a cup of cracked ice and shake vigorously until it foams up. Top with a mound of sweetened whipped cream. Still another way of making it is to add two tablespoons of thick cream and carbonated water to place of all milk, then shake and proceed as directed.

When sewing hooks and eyes or snappers on very thin material, try inserting a strip of thin cardboard between outside material and facing. Then you can sew right along quickly without danger of stitches showing through on the outside of seam or fold, as the case may be. This is a great time saver when working on georgette or chiffon.

Cabbage and Pimento Salad.—Two cups shredded cabbage, one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, dash of celery salt, a little chopped onion, or onion juice, two tablespoons of vinegar, four tablespoons salad oil, one pimento. Put all dry ingredients together and mix thoroughly. Stir in vinegar, then oil. Arrange on plates with strips of pimento.

To prevent your apron pocket from catching on the door knob or protruding object, rip the pocket down an inch or so on each side, finish with a hem, and sew a fastener at the top. Then if the pocket should catch on anything the fastener comes loose and no tear results.

Chaufroid Chicken.—Boil a disjointed chicken in water to barely cover and add half a teaspoon of poultry seasoning, one onion stuck with three cloves, half a bay leaf, and a few stalks of chopped celery. Also add a rounding teaspoon of salt after it has cooked for one hour. Let the chicken cool in the water in which it has cooked, take out, and remove the skin. For the sauce which covers it, put two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan and when it bubbles add two tablespoons of flour, blend well, and stir in gradually two cups of strained chicken stock and the beaten yolks of two eggs. Continue to stir until thick and smooth, then add one ounce of gelatine, softened in half a cup of cream. Remove from the fire as soon as the gelatine is dissolved, and set aside. Cool, and when quite thick dip each piece of chicken in the sauce and set in the ice chest. Serve on a bed of cress and garnish with sliced stuffed eggs, olives and capers. Sweetbreads, pieces of calf's head and duck may be treated in the same manner.

Instead of cracker crumbs for croquettes, breaded veal, scalloped corn or potatoes as gratin, use corn flakes. They are collected much more easily and are a delicious golden brown when done.

Eggplant au Gratin.—One eggplant, two tablespoons butter, one-half onion, three-quarters table-spoon parsley, three-quarters cup cheese crumbs, three eggplant cut in two-thirds-inch cubes. Cook in small quantity of boiling salted water until tender, then drain. Cook butter with finely chopped onion until yellow; add parsley chopped, and the eggplant. Turn into greased baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake until crumbs are brown.

A little soda added to the water in which greasy cooking utensils are to be washed will make the work easier.

Fish Cakes.—Half a can of salmon, tuna fish or other canned fish will make three good-sized fish cakes. Mash the fish with a fork and add two tablespoons melted butter, two tablespoons of rich milk, and one lightly beaten egg, with a dash of paprika. Beat up very light, form with floured hands, and saute quickly in hot bacon fat. The milk and butter may be added the night before and the eggs folded in just before baking.

If a jelly cake is turned out on a damp cloth it can be rolled without breaking.

Corks for thermos bottles are apt to get musty unless care is taken to prevent it. This mustiness spoils the flavor of the coffee, before putting away the thermos bottles boil the corks, adding a little baking soda to the water. Instead of putting the corks into the bottles, put them to the necks of the bottles. They will keep sweet and dry.

A damp cloth dipped in either salt or soda and rubbed on cups will remove the tea or coffee stains.

Breakfast Fruit Salad.—This is an innovation for breakfast, but a very delicious one. Try it and see. Cut with a vegetable scoop balls of iced cantaloupe. For an individual portion allow four of the balls tossed lightly with a quarter of a cupful of chilled watermelon cubes, the yellow pulp of half an orange, two tablespoons of sliced peaches cut in bits, and a quarter of a cup of shredded lettuce. Drain thoroughly, moisten with a French fruit dressing, which a little maraschino cordial and a pinch of ground cinnamon have been added, and serve in lettuce cups.

To prevent a tin boiler from rusting rub well with laundry soap while the boiler is yet warm.

Jellied Tomato Soup.—Three cups tomato, three bouillon cubes, one onion, one bay leaf, one and one-half cups milk, one cup celery leaves or salt, three teaspoons gelatine, few peppercorns, few sprigs thyme. Simmer the tomatoes, onion, bay leaf and celery with seasonings until quite soft, and strain. There should be three cups of the juice. Strain the parsley and bouillon cubes. Soften the gelatine in three tablespoons of cold water and dissolve in the hot juice. Season to taste with paprika and salt. This makes a clouded soup jelly, but delicious. Garnish with finely chopped green pepper.
